

Nomadess

Cruising in Vanuatu can be a confusing lesson in logistics for many superyachts. The sheer size of the island group and diversity of its people and villages makes it easy to miss a golden opportunity that could turn a good trip into an amazing life experience. That's when you need the help of a good agent, Justine and Claire of Seal Superyachts Vanuatu are those agents. Local, connected to the islands and islanders they have been there and done that in Vanuatu. Having cruised here many times with our well-traveled owners Claire and Justin helped open up new unseen layers for us to explore. Their connection to the various chiefs and network of first class guides made it easy to arrange one of a kind excursions that will always be remembered.

From captain, chief engineer and chef not once did we hear it can't be done from Seal Superyachts. Stuck in the Maskelyne group with bad weather, chef's order arrives perfect after travel by air and outrigger to the boat. Engineer wants duty free fuel but the captain wants to stop in Tana on the way south, Claire arranged with customs in no time at all. After thirty nine years of running world roving superyachts I would not think of visiting Vanuatu without Claire and Justin on our team.

Ed Collins

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'EFCR', written over a circular stamp.

M/Y Nomadess

